

Amy Grant shares her heartfelt story of survival, made possible by the American Heart Association. She had no warning signs of heart disease, but a cardiologist discovered a rare heart condition that ultimately saved her life. Thanks to lifesaving research funded by the American Heart Association, Amy can continue doing what she loves with the people she loves.

In this new PSA, Amy takes viewers through her journey, featuring footage of her performances, heart scans, and her time with family. From her hospital recovery to everyday moments in the garden, the visuals highlight the life-changing impact of early detection and medical breakthroughs.
